RESEARCH

- 2009 Founding member-Center for the Advancement of Supportive Architecture (CASA-Universal)
The CASA vision is for all people with special needs and life circumstances to be sheltered in efficient, sustainable and nurturing environments that enhance their lives and the life of the community.
The CASA Mission is to be a catalyst for new ideas, innovation, hope and change in design, building and funding of construction projects for non-profit, benevolent organizations. We collectively gather and share experience, data, education and resources to advance the supportive building culture.
- 2008 Ongoing research, design and virtual building of environmentally adaptive and eco-centric housing prototypes in partnership with a local builder and his team of tradesmen.
- 1981 Prime team member in developing the Residential Passive Solar Energy Conservation Retrofit Data Base for Control Data Corporation (CDC) (Princeton Energy Group/Harrison Fraker Architects)
- 1981 Prime team member in the design, development and installation of a dry gasket glazing system capable of handling the unusual thermal characteristic of doubled skin acrylic glazing panels for passive solar installations. (Princeton Energy Group/Harrison Fraker Architects)
- 1980 Design, development and construction of an experimental, low-cost method for increasing space by raising roofs on residential buildings. (Raymond Heinrich, Architect)
